Foreign Adversaries Could Use Deepfakes To Influence U.S. Elections

THREAT

» Foreign adversaries may use artificial intelligence to create deepfakes (high quality generated or manipulated video, images, text, or audio) to shape public opinion and influence U.S. elections

IMPACT

» Undermines public confidence in political candidates and parties
» Undermines public confidence in the election process
» Threatens civil discourse and divides the American public
» Challenges the ability of online and social media platforms to identify and manage digitally-altered content
» Creates or amplifies foreign adversaries’ false narratives

MITIGATION

» Know the source of the information you consume, repost, or share
» Be careful not to amplify false narratives pushed by foreign adversaries - if it looks out of the norm, it probably is » Check multiple official government or campaign websites to verify information
» Always question the authenticity of the video, image, audio, or text you receive » Keep a digital archive of public statements to counter deepfakes
