OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE
IC CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER
WASHINGTON, DC

2022-0238

MEMORANDUM FOR: Distribution

SUBJECT: Technical Soundness Approval of Intelligence Community
Technical Specification Update (2022-JUL Release)

REFERENCES:

- A. Intelligence Community Directive 500, Director of National Intelligence Chief Information Officer, 7 August 2008
- B. Intelligence Community Standard 500-20, Intelligence Community Enterprise Standards Compliance, 16 December 2010

Reference A requires the Intelligence Community Chief Information Officer (IC CIO) to establish, coordinate, and promulgate common information technology standards, protocols, and interfaces for and within the IC, as required, to support: 1) information-sharing strategies, 2) intelligence mission objectives established in relevant laws, policies, and directives, and 3) the IC information environment (IC IE).

The Office of the IC CIO facilitates IC-wide collaboration and coordination with entities charged with developing, modifying, and overseeing the governance process of IC technical specifications of common concern. As the IC CIO accountable official responsible for developing and coordinating these specifications among IC elements and external stakeholders, I hereby assert that the following IC technical specification is technically sound and supportive of IC mission objectives and the IC IE. This IC technical specification is implementable as of this memorandum's signature date:

- 1) CVE Encoding Specification for US Agency Acronyms V2022-JUL (USAgency.CES.V2022-JUL)—this specification is being revised to align with the USA.gov website.

In accordance with reference B, the 2022-JUL Release of the IC technical specifications is approved for submission to the IC Enterprise Standards Baseline, which serves as the collection of enterprise standards against which programs will be assessed for IC enterprise architecture compliance. IC technical specifications can be accessed at <https://go.ic.gov/RxSUraG> on Intelink-TS and <https://w3id.org/ic/standards/final> on Intelink-U.
