Plan to Provide a Status Report on the Implementation of the Hostage Recovery Activities Executive Order

“Within one year of the date of this order, the Director of the National Counterterrorism Center, in consultation with the Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense, Attorney General, and Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, shall provide a status report to the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and Counterterrorism on the implementation of this order. The report shall be informed by consultation with stakeholders outside of the U.S. Government and shall, to the extent possible, be made available to the public.” (Executive Order 13698, Hostage Recovery Activities, 24 June 2015)

This document outlines a plan to provide a status report (hereafter “assessment”) on the implementation of Presidential Policy Directive 30 and the Hostage Recovery Activities Executive Order (EO) 13698, which identifies NCTC as the lead for this task. This plan describes NCTC’s general approach, timeline, list of potential interviewees, and EO tasks that will be assessed and the corresponding draft Measures of Effect (MoE).

Assessment Lead and Approach

NCTC’s Directorate of Strategic Operational Planning (DSOP) will take the lead on drafting the assessment, with support from other elements of NCTC as necessary. DSOP will work closely with the Hostage Recovery Fusion Cell (HRFC) on the development of this assessment and the coordination of discussions with other agencies, organizations and individuals internal or external to the U.S. government.

How NCTC/DSOP will develop the assessment
DSOP’s assessment process follows standard qualitative research methods that are grounded in traditional social-science research protocols, the assessment uses focused, semi-structured interviews designed to remove bias from the process. The assessment team will identify the key areas supporting or minimizing progress against policy objectives or areas identified as weaknesses in the past. Once the information is collected, DSOP assessment officers synthesize information from a variety of sources to reach a qualitative judgment on the overall impact of USG efforts, in the process identifying impediments to progress and determining actions that are generating the most effect. In this way, the assessment will attempt to resolve the impact of the changes in policy articulated through EO 13698 and PPD-30 while also considering progress against the implied desired objectives for this implementation process.

Therefore, DSOP proposes a series of Measures of Effect (MoEs) that are based upon the guidance contained in the PPD 30 and EO 13698. The MoEs are designed to ensure that the report will assess a variety of cross-cutting issues. These issues include assessing how the USG approaches private efforts and differentiates between detainee and hostage cases, and the effectiveness of declassification efforts.
Monitoring of MoEs (and any associated tasks and MoPs) for the HRFC, the HRG, and the Special Envoy will provide data to calibrate progress and assist in determining how much impact has occurred.

Upon completion of the draft assessment, DSOP’s finding, recommendations, and supporting analysis will be fully coordinated across the interagency. Those individuals who were interviewed will be given a chance to provide additional data, provide suggested refinements for the analysis, and provide concurrence or dissent. The final assessment provides policymakers with a substantive, evidence-based analysis of USG actions and impact in hostage-taking situations, complete with recommendations to make Hostage recovery activities more effective.

Executive Order-based Tasks and their associated Measures of Effect (MoE)
The primary purpose of the MoE is to assess progress against the implied end states and objectives by establishing trend lines and monitoring the status of implementation as reflected by the list of tasks outlined in the Executive Order. The MoEs detailed below are initial working examples identified by DSOP; additional MoEs may be developed as needed, based upon discussion with the agencies and other interested parties.

Establish the Hostage Recovery Fusion Cell
• Identify and recommend hostage recovery options and strategies to the President through the National Security Council.
  o MOE: The HRFC has identified and recommended recovery options and strategies that are appropriate, executable, delivered to the NSC in a timely manner and enhance the effectiveness of recovery operations.
  o MOE: The strategies put forward by the HRFC and approved by the HRG have led to demonstrated progress in freeing U.S. nationals from captivity, to the extent that external circumstances allow.
• Coordinate efforts by participating departments and agencies to ensure that information regarding hostage events, including potential recovery options and engagements with families and external actors, is appropriately shared within the U.S. Government to facilitate a coordinated response to a hostage-taking.
18 March 2016

- MOE: Departments and agencies believe guidance regarding prioritization, coordination and information sharing is clearer and contains fewer frictions points than were noted previously.
- MOE: Departments and agencies are actively contributing information analysis and capabilities as appropriate in the recovery strategy and recovery operation phases and these contributions have increased the success rate for recoveries.
- MOE: Engagements with families, employers and intermediaries are well coordinated across the government. Discussions with external stakeholders are consistent and non-contradictory and result in a perception that these efforts improve the understanding of the situation by these individuals and organizations.

- Coordinate with executive departments and agencies regarding congressional, media, and other public inquiries pertaining to hostage events.
  - MOE: Executive departments and agencies believe that the HRFC is coordinating responses to congressional, media and other public inquiries, and these efforts have improved the unity of the overall message to the outside world.
  - MOE: Executive agencies and Congressional offices report that information with each other is shared in a timely and accurate manner, resulting in improved communication overall and coordinated responses to inquiries regarding the HRFC and individual cases.

Dear Families:

I am writing to provide you an update on the U.S. government’s efforts to improve our ability to secure the safe return of your loved ones and to better communicate with you on these efforts. As you know, on June 24th, 2015 the President issued Executive Order 13698, Hostage Recovery Activities. Soon it will have been one year since that Executive Order was issued. The President considers this effort one of his top priorities and to ensure we are providing the best results possible, I am leading a team of senior officials at the National Counterterrorism Center in the production of a Status Report to the President on how the United States government responded over the past months to these cases.

Specifically, we are examining the actions that the U.S. government has taken since the President issued the Executive Order, the effects they have had, and areas for further improvement. Your recommendations and reflections over the past months on your experience will be a critical element of this process and we believe will be valuable in informing the most complete status report.

As part of this report, we will continue to be guided by the principle that we should share as much information as possible with the families of hostages, while protecting the safety of your loved ones, the integrity of investigations, and the sensitive sources and methods through which we develop information. The President also remains firmly committed to denying hostage takers any benefits of ransom or other concessions.

The U.S. government’s goal has always been to do whatever we can within our capabilities and the bounds of the law to assist families to bring your loved ones home. On behalf of the interagency status report team, I invite you and members of your family to provide input to this effort. If you wish to accept this invitation, please contact our review team leader to make arrangements for the most convenient way to provide your input.

Thank you in advance for your willingness to be part of this important effort.

Sincerely,

Director
Directorate of Strategic Operational Planning
