Component Mission:

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs):

- Represent the National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) and act as a link between NCTC components and executive-level customers in the United States Government (USG), Intelligence Community (IC), and/or foreign governments, operating out of executive agencies of the USG and large embassies.
- Provide federal, state, and local officials with CT responsibilities with tailored and relevant intelligence briefings that draw upon current intelligence products, analytic assessments, and IC-wide intelligence and cover a full range of national security issues.
- Plan and develop intelligence briefings and reports to determine relevance to customers; develop a comprehensive understanding of the material to speak authoritatively to its quality, accuracy, and its logical underpinnings of fact and argumentation.
- Utilize substantive knowledge to explain complex concepts; consult with NCTC components as necessary to understand the significance and relevance of late-breaking or overnight information.
- Commission analyses and written products based on consumer requests or interest, ensuring that the tasking is suitable, clear, and comprehensive; engage consumer to frame and elicit clear and appropriate tasking’s; collaborate with NCTC officers to ensure taskings are well understood.
- Develop and maintain a substantive level of expertise on a full range of current intelligence and policy issues of interest to customers; discuss issues and developments with internal and external peers and customers; communicate regularly with peers, customers, and Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) components to exchange information, clarify taskings, and coordinate production.
- Develop and maintain ongoing networks of working relationships with external expert contacts to exchange and share substantive information and build expertise.
• Develop and maintain intelligence sharing relationships with federal, state and local officials and organizations; select intelligence items for passage to partners by utilizing thorough knowledge of global and domestic threats, adhering to security policies and procedures.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements:

• Demonstrated situational judgment and interpersonal, negotiation, and networking skills to collaboratively build strong working relationships with interagency partners and customers.
• Demonstrated ability to establish regular contacts within NCTC and across the broader IC for purposes of exchanging information, including knowledge and understanding of NCTC component missions and priorities; NCTC experience strongly preferred.
• Demonstrated critical thinking skills and ability to exercise sound judgment; ability to think strategically and remain open-minded on the basis of new information and requirements.
• Demonstrated ability to develop and deliver comprehensive intelligence briefings; superior ability to collect, compile, and synthesize intelligence materials that accurately and effectively address customers' needs and questions.
• Demonstrated ability to apply expert knowledge of the IC and relevant customer organizations or operations (e.g., military, policy makers, and law enforcement), in order to effectively translate their requirements and provide appropriate output or responses to meet customer needs.
• Demonstrated ability to review a large body of information and synthesize for inclusion in comprehensive, relevant briefings under tight time constraints; superior ability to efficiently prioritize, perform multiple tasks, and change focus quickly as demands change in a fast-paced, time constrained environment.
• At least two years’ experience working at NCTC within the last five years.
