Component Mission

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Through rigorous, objective, and data-driven analysis, the National Counterterrorism Center's assessment officers provide critical insights into the performance and progress of our nation's CT enterprise against operational and strategic objectives. Their products and services provide decision advantage to senior leadership in the intelligence, operational, and policy communities, enabling key resource and policy decisions via cost-benefit analysis, gap and impediment identification, and recommendations for action.

DSOP's team is seeking a highly motivated officer with experience in program evaluation, performance and effectiveness measurement, and/or data visualization, as well as an understanding of IC and whole-of-government resource and policy processes and familiarity with the CT mission. The ideal candidate will have a strong professional network across the interagency, and be eager to lead evaluation and assessment projects that result in enduring, community-wide impact.

Additionally, the incumbent will be expected to:

Integrate and develop planning efforts for area of responsibility in coordination and collaboration with other U.S. Government agencies.

Conduct analysis and evaluation of interagency (i.e., whole-of-government) and National Intelligence Program (NIP) capabilities to document efficiency, effectiveness, and progress toward operational and strategic objectives.

Conduct initiatives to maintain a comprehensive awareness of analytical and statistical methods; conduct independent evaluative studies of cross-cutting IC issues and techniques to assess program effectiveness.

Present findings, conclusions, options, and recommendations to senior management.

Produce assessment papers or other analytic products applying methodologies and subject matter expertise to support senior leadership in making informed programmatic decisions, and brief findings and recommendations to senior decision makers.

Initiate, cultivate, and maintain productive working relationships with peers and senior leaders across the IC and interagency in order to coordinate assessment activities, obtain relevant data, and strengthen and validate findings.

Research and identify key intelligence or other relevant program and budget issues, evaluate program alternatives, and provide structured recommendations in accordance with organizational policies, procedures, and viewpoints.
Mandatory and Educational Requirements

Thorough knowledge and experience with planning processes, critical analysis, consensus building, as well as the application and integration of all instruments of national power in protecting the U.S. and its interests abroad.

Thorough knowledge of strategic planning and performance management, including the methods used to evaluate organizational performance against strategic objectives and ability to advise the organizations on the application of evaluation methods.

Thorough knowledge of ODNI's processes, programs, and policies as they relate to program evaluation.

Ability to apply analytic, quantitative, and qualitative techniques to analyze, evaluate, and recommend appropriate alternatives to complex issues.

Experience examining program/project successes and failures and making recommendations to improve products and services; ability to deal with service failures and prioritize customer needs.

Oral and written communication skills, including ability to produce clear, logical, and concise products.

Organizational and interpersonal skills, and ability to negotiate.

Ability to develop consensus recommendations and to solicit input from colleagues and peers; ability to remain open-minded and change opinions on the basis of new information and requirements.

Ability to work effectively with senior leadership to build consensus on contentious issues and to foster a collaborative work environment across the ODNI, IC, and mission partners.

Ability to balance responsibilities among program/project activities; ability to manage transitions effectively from task to task, adapting to varying customer needs.

Ability to advise the effective management of complex projects; ability to manage and mitigate risks, assess customer requirements, identify dependencies, and develop responsive project plans; ability to estimate costs and other resources using quantitative analysis to project requirements.

Desired Requirements

Previous government experience in either intelligence, foreign policy, defense, or development

Bachelor’s degree or equivalent experience as determined by mission specialty area.
