For a detailee assignment:

- Current Federal Government employees. (Current GS employees at the same grade or up to two below the advertised position grade may apply.)

Salary Determination

- The ODNI uses a rank-in-person system in which rank is attached to the individual. A selected ODNI candidate or other Federal Government candidate will be assigned to the position at the employee's current GS grade and salary.

- For a selected non-Federal Government candidate, salary will be established within the salary range listed above, based on education and experience.

- A current Federal Government employee, selected for a detail, will be assigned to the position at his or her current grade and salary.

Component Mission

The Office of General Counsel (OGC) of the Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) provides legal advice and counsel to the Director of National Intelligence (DNI) and other ODNI officials on a wide range of legal issues to include intelligence and national security law; procurement and acquisition law; personnel law; government ethics, budget, and fiscal law; general administrative law; legislative support; government information practices (Freedom of Information Act/Privacy Act); and intellectual property law.

Major Duties and Responsibilities:

- Independently conduct moderately complex research and analysis using all available resources on subjects affecting ODNI’s duties and responsibilities under the National Security Act, Presidential directives, Executive Orders, and other related laws and policies; analyze statutes, regulations and other information to determine relevance, accuracy, completeness, inconsistencies, or importance.

- Respond to routine and moderately complex legal inquiries by drafting legal correspondence and memoranda as well as affidavits, declarations, regulations, bulletins, notices, claims summaries and notices, and summaries of legal research and analysis that are grammatically correct, technically sound, accurate, and concise.

- Present informal briefings on limited topics to small audiences; prepare slide presentations and statistical data for use by attorneys.

- Assist with planning, organizing, and coordinating activities related to the preparation and submission of files or documents related to United States Government-wide and IC-wide policies, procedures, guidelines, rules, and standards.

- Update and maintain databases, files, notebooks, and logs (e.g., case files, trial notebooks, case assignment notebooks) in compliance with pre-existing storage systems and procedures.

- Complete moderately-complex administrative forms and paperwork and function as a note taker during moderately complex depositions, administrative hearings, trials, or meetings.
• Will directly support one or more areas, including litigation, legislation and congressional affairs, or ethics.

Additional Duties:

• Provide backup support to the Chief of Staff on an as needed basis.

These duties include but not limited to processing HR actions and participating in contract and budget drills.

• Assist in the planning and coordination of the IC Legal Conference, the IC Legal Reference Book, the GC Forum, OGC’s file management, and publication of updated legal reference books.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements (MDR)

• Must have a Bachelor’s degree

• Knowledge of the principles and practices of substantive and procedural law as well as legal research processes, legal terminology, legal standards and documentation.

• Knowledge of document control procedures, security measures, and privacy rules in order to mitigate the potential release of any investigative information that would endanger or compromise pending cases.

• Knowledge of moderately complex litigation processes and court proceedings as well as strong listening and oral comprehension skills to determine relevance of points of discussion and to clarify ambiguities.

• Thorough written communication skills sufficient to draft basic and complex documents comprehensively and in correct style and format; ability to edit own work and write in a clear and concise manner, and strong oral communication skills.

• Ability to perform moderately complex legal review, investigative, research, and analysis work, as well as the ability to organize and maintain the assembly and filing of legal documents for moderately complex cases within established deadlines.

• Problem-solving skills sufficient to make clear cut decisions regarding moderately complex matters in a timely manner; considerable legal research skills using law libraries, the internet, and computer-based tools such as Westlaw and PACER.

• Ability to work in an independent manner under appropriate attorney supervision and as a contributing member of a work group; ability to work with a diverse group of team members or clients and give and receive constructive feedback.

Desired:

Paralegal certification and/or 2 years’ experience.
