Component Mission

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

The National Counterterrorism Center's Directorate of Intelligence (NCTC/DI) is seeking an exceptional, experienced GS-15 Senior Analytic Service (SAS) analyst or GS-14 SAS aspirant with strong tradecraft, leadership and interpersonal skills to help oversee and drive strategic and targeting analysis across the Directorate, enabling the Center to better meet its missions of serving as the primary organization in the US Government for analyzing and integrating all sources of intelligence pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism and fusing foreign and domestic intelligence on external and internal threats to the Homeland.

As a group-level asset in the DI, the selected officer will help managers formulate and implement an operationally and policy-relevant analytic program and advance analytic tradecraft and expertise on CT issues. The selectee will work with senior leadership in other DI groups as part of a virtual team to identify and assess trends, understand interdisciplinary linkages, preserve analytic objectivity, and apply sophisticated analytic tools and techniques to complex projects related to terrorism and counterterrorism. The officer will ensure that the Directorate's analytic lines are progressing and staying fresh by encouraging DI analysts to think creatively and challenge their own analytic lines, promoting diversity of analytic opinions, and helping them identify creative ways to tackle strategic production in an increasingly limited collection environment.

NCTC/DI is committed to developing its officers, and will provide the selected officer with executive development and training opportunities, encourage research projects, and support the selectee's corporate contributions to NCTC, ODNI, and their home agency. The officer will also have opportunities to travel, take appropriate language training, and attend relevant conferences.

Duties and Responsibilities Will Include:
• Sharing expertise with others and mentoring more junior analysts in the Directorate. Senior Analysts are among the DI's leading teachers of our trade and organizational culture, setting a positive tone and playing a leading role in building workforce morale and fostering cooperation, collaboration, and continuous learning.

• Leading the production of a broad range of finished intelligence products in support of US foreign policy and national security interests. Senior analysts produce sophisticated, cross-cutting, finished intelligence and briefings on terrorism-related issues that model the highest standards of DI tradecraft and policy or operational relevance.

• Cultivating and maintaining productive working relationships with colleagues, experts, IC members, policy committees, and law enforcement agencies as appropriate and use these relationships to share information of interest.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

A 1-2 page narrative describing the below requirements:

• Experience as highly successful all-source or targeting analyst, and the ability to identify trends and topics; conceptualize projects; work effectively on cross-cutting issues; and produce sophisticated, insightful finished intelligence.

• Outstanding mentoring skills.

• Established and recognized substantive expertise on terrorism issues or relevant regional or functional issues.

• Recognized expertise in analytic tradecraft and high degree of comfort in working in a collaborative setting.

• Excellent interpersonal, organizational, and leadership skills and ability to conceptualize and effectively lead complex analytic projects with limited supervision. Ability to work with and fairly represent the IC when analytic views differ among agencies.

• Demonstrated experience and expertise in effectively working with policymakers, law enforcement organizations, warfighters, or state and local officials and a deep understanding of their intelligence/analytic requirements and priorities.

• Outstanding critical thinking skills demonstrated in a portfolio of published analysis that show applicant’s ability to think strategically and creatively.

• Demonstrated ability to work effectively across organizational lines—often under tight deadlines—to synthesize and produce sophisticated intelligence.

• Demonstrated ability to execute senior-level guidance in a fast paced environment and superior ability to translate strategic goals into specific objectives with appropriate metrics and methods to track progress toward meeting those goals.
• Demonstrated ability to communicate effectively with people at all levels, both internal and external to the organization, to give oral presentations and to otherwise represent the NCTC, as needed, in interagency meetings.

Desired Requirements

• Prior work experience or advanced academic study on domestic terrorism, homegrown violent extremism, radicalization, terrorism prevention, or terrorist cyber, media, and messaging capabilities.
