Salary Determination

- The ODNI uses a rank-in-person system in which rank is attached to the individual. A selected ODNI candidate or other Federal Government candidate will be assigned to the position at the employee's current GS grade and salary.
- A current Federal Government employee, selected for a detail, will be assigned to the position at his or her current grade and salary.

Component Mission

The mission of the National Counterintelligence & Security Center is to lead and support the U.S. Government's counterintelligence (CI) and security activities critical to protecting our nation; provide CI outreach to U.S. private sector entities at risk of foreign intelligence penetration; and issue public warnings regarding intelligence threats to the U.S.

Provide expert guidance and leadership to group staff in the production of well-crafted sophisticated, complex, strategic, and timely counterintelligence risk assessments in support of United States (US) foreign policy and national security objectives; review final analytic products, written and oral, for clarity, organization, accuracy, and logic; effectively explain highly complex concepts and results to non-expert customers and tailor products to correspond to customer needs.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Lead and direct team's production of cross-cutting Risk Assessments of threats to US supply chain and cyber infrastructure; plan, coordinate, and oversee work in a manner consistent with fulfilling organizational directives and accomplishing mission goals.

Lead and direct team in the gathering of all pertinent information in support of US interests and policy objectives; guide teams in the identification of highly relevant information from internal and external sources to meet customer needs.

Set priorities and drive programs to ensure senior Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) officials are prepared for policy meetings throughout the Intelligence Community (IC) and US Government (USG).

Develop and maintain working relationships with senior ODNI officials and, as necessary, principals throughout the intelligence and policy communities; identify issues and developments of significance in cooperation with internal and external peers, communicating regularly to exchange subject information.

Develop the substantive analytic skills of subordinate employees and contribute to the broader corporate mission of the organization.

Serve as the primary approver for the allocation of group resources, including but not limited to training, travel, and contracts; advise senior leadership on resource needs for the entire group.

Evaluate and develop staff; serve as a substantive supervisory and analytic resource, teaching and guiding analysts; provide substantive feedback to include career development counseling and skills development.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

Expert knowledge of resource management principles and applications coupled with superior managerial experience.

Superior ability to effectively plan and lead the development of high-quality, complex analyses, studies, projects, assessments, assignments, and briefings on key US foreign policy and national security objectives focused on informing IC colleagues and policy makers on counterintelligence risks including risks from supply chain and cyber threats.

Superior ability to effectively and efficiently address employee skill deficiencies or performance shortcomings and take measurable steps to increase proficiency; expert ability to delegate responsibility as appropriate to develop staff and ensure consistent smooth functioning of group.

Expert knowledge of pertinent national security threats which may pose a risk to US supply chains and critical infrastructure including cyber.

Expert knowledge of analytic tradecraft and the customer base for Supply Chain and Cyber Directorate assessments.

Expert analytic and critical thinking skills, including superior ability to think strategically; superior ability to effectively express complex, multi-discipline ideas and insights verbally and in writing to a variety of audiences up to and including senior leadership.

Superior ability to remain open-minded and modify judgments based of new information and requirements, perform multiple tasks and prioritize those tasks quickly as demands change; and support group decisions and solicit opinions from coworkers.

Expert ability to stay informed on current foreign political trends and developments and to work effectively in open-source environment.

Expert knowledge of IC policy and procedure as well as an expert ability to maintain and develop contacts within ODNI and the intelligence and policy communities for purposes of exchanging information.

Expert ability to direct taskings, assess and manage performance, collaborate on goal setting, and support personal and professional development.
